TTOTW Cafè:

CONCLUSION

- American dishes have the least variety of items on the menu.
- Asian dishes are the most ordered dishes despite not having the most variety on the menu.
- Italian dishes are the most expensive dishes but they are both on the most ordered and least ordered dishes showing that their demand is not as a result of their high price.
- January started and ended strong, February also started strong but the lowest order started here and finally March started slow with several low point across the month.

RECOMMENDATIONS

- More American dishes with fast making process can be added to the menu as the American dishes ordered most are dishes that don't have long waiting process.
- Asian dishes of all variety should be made readily available as they are in demand at all time of the day.
- All spaghetti-related Italian menu should be made readily available at all time of the day as they are in demand.
- More awareness should be created towards Mexican dishes.
